

HOW MUCH WILL IT COST?

Fixed fees apply, with packages starting from $4,950 (that's total for both parties, including GST!). This fee includes joint sessions, independent legal advice, and legal documentation of the agreement (either by consent orders or a financial agreement) as outlined in the process below.

- Onboarding fee $550 - covers engagement process; educational materials; intake interviews.
- First Joint session $1100 - for two hours of coaching and negotiation with additional time (up to two hours) charged at $550 per hour;
- Second joint session (if required) $1100 for two hours of coaching and negotiation with additional time (up to two hours) charged at $550 per hour;
- Preparation of Consent Orders / Binding Financial Agreement and/or Parenting Plan $2,200*
- Separate meeting with own lawyer to obtain independent legal advice and joint meeting to execute final documentation $1100

* Plus filing fees; searches; valuation fees; Superannuation Information fees; registration costs; room hire or other outlays incurred.

 fees for document preparation will increase by $165 for each Super split; additional real property transfer over and above the family home; or entity transfer required to be included.

The fees quoted above cover both parties. We have agreed to fix our costs between our respective firms so that neither party is charged more than the other. We aim to keep fees transparent and fair. Our fees are based on an hourly rate of just $275 per hour per lawyer/mediator. That might sound expensive but in the legal world, that's a bargain! We really do want to make this service affordable for our clients.

At the outset of your matter you will be provided with our Cost Disclosure and Fee Schedule.
